

IDEAS FOR FUNDRAISING AT WORK

THE REACH FOUNDATION

Creating your own workplace fundraising event or activity will help Reach to encourage young people, no matter what their circumstances, to believe they can achieve.

There are heaps of creative and fun ways you can raise funds at work. It doesn't matter what idea you come up with - with some time and effort, your fundraiser will be a rewarding experience and valuable contribution to Reach.

If you plan to organise an event or activity at work to raise funds for Reach, you need to make sure your fundraiser is registered and authorised by Reach. Please read our Fundraising Guidelines and Register your Event.

Ideas to get you started:

- Get together with your colleagues and run in a local fun run or triathlon. Get other colleagues and friends to sponsor you.
- Organise a casual or themed clothes day in your workplace
- Bake cakes or muffins and sell them to colleagues for morning tea
- Sweet jar on your desk/reception. Charge your colleagues a small donation if they want a sweet.
- Ask colleagues to make a gold coin donation for every cup of tea or coffee they would have for a week
- Fine your colleagues if they are late to a meeting
- Hold a team or department afternoon tea or lunch, and ask colleagues to make a donation
- Hold a charity client function e.g. golf day
- Organise a sausage sizzle
- Host a themed party or night out with your colleagues

HOW WE CAN HELP YOU

We love hear about your ideas and can provide you with useful tips, advice and support for your fundraising event or activity. Please check out the 'How we can help' in our Fundraising Guidelines or give us a call on 03 9412 0915.

If you would like information on supporting Reach through a corporate partnership or workplace giving please contact Brad Holland our Manager, Corporate Partnerships on 9412 0912.